Do You Really Need a Permit to Shoot in LA? - Do You Really Need a Permit to Shoot in LA? 6 minutes, 1 second - If you're an indie filmmaker, director, or writer trying to navigate the business side of filmmaking, in LA, this is essential viewing.

Kathi starts right off letting you know that in LA you need a permit to shoot in your own home

She goes on to tell the story of shadowing a director on a feature where the producer did NOT get permits and they were shut down. It took a LOT to \"save the day\"

Many people think their garage or backyard is a \"private location.\" It is not in LA County. Kathi explains.

In Orange County things are different (when she made this video -- always check for yourself)

If you don't get caught... but if you do, they'll come and knock on the door and shut you down

She talks about shooting one of her films in Orange County which did not need permits (at that time)

She talks about another film she did under FilmLA where she got all her permits

People shoot every day with little cellphone cameras w/o permits

Kathi's feeling is \"why take a chance\" especially when you invest in your film/crew/cast?

Kathi has also paid a parking garage for her cast/crew and shuttled them to the location

You can put more than one location on a single permit application (for the one price)

And location managers can help you navigate all that
